Welcome from Golf Canada / Mot de bienvenue de Golf Canada

Welcome to the 107th playing of Canada's National Men's Open Golf Championship.

Golf Canada has proudly conducted our Open as a rallying point for golf in this country. The RBC Canadian Open provides an opportunity for Canada's top golfing talents to challenge themselves against the world's best.

Our sincere appreciation goes out to ClubLink and Glen Abbey Golf Club who will be hosting Canada's National Open Championship for the 28th time. This year celebrates the 40th anniversary of Glen Abbey and we are proud to return to a venue that has hosted so many of the event's most iconic moments.

As well, many thanks to our volunteers for their tireless efforts to ensure a successful championship. Volunteers are the driving force behind golf in Canada and we simply could not conduct this week's event without their support. The same is true for our many supporting partners who have proudly aligned their respective brands with the RBC Canadian Open.

To the players competing this week—thank you for your continued support of our National Championship. Specifically our Canadian hopefuls—congratulations on earning your spot in the field and I hope you enjoy every moment representing Canadian golf. In a few short weeks golf marks its historic return to the Olympic Games for the first time since Canadian George S. Lyon won gold in 1904. We are thrilled to celebrate our golf Olympians as well as the many talented athletes carrying the flag for Canada year-round on the international golfing stage.

And finally, a sincere thank you to the passionate golf enthusiasts across Canada who have rallied behind our Open and fuelled the success of this championship for more than a century.

Roland Deveau
President
Golf Canada

Je suis heureux de vous souhaiter la bienvenue à la 107<sup>e</sup> édition du championnat national ouvert de golf du Canada.

Golf Canada est fier de présenter l'omnium canadien masculin, un point de ralliement du golf dans notre pays. Grâce à l'Omnium canadien RBC, nos golfeurs les plus doués ont la chance de se mesurer à l'élite mondiale.

Je remercie ClubLink et le Glen Abbey Golf Club qui accueille pour la 28<sup>e</sup> fois ce grand championnat national. Cette année, Glen Abbey célèbre son 40<sup>e</sup> anniversaire, et nous sommes fiers de renouer avec un lieu de compétition qui fut le théâtre de plusieurs moments mémorables de ce tournoi.

J'exprime aussi ma reconnaissance envers nos bénévoles dont les efforts inlassables assurent la réussite du championnat. Les bénévoles sont depuis toujours la force motrice du golf canadien, et c'est leur présence dévouée qui rend possible la présentation de ce tournoi. Il en va de même pour nos nombreux partenaires commerciaux qui alignent fièrement leur marque sur l'Omnium canadien RBC.

Je remercie les golfeurs présents cette semaine pour leur soutien continu à notre championnat national. Et j'en profite pour féliciter les espoirs canadiens qui ont mérité une place dans le tableau. Je leur souhaite de savourer chaque moment de cette expérience qui leur permet de représenter le golf canadien. Dans quelques semaines, le golf fera un retour historique aux Jeux olympiques dont il était absent depuis 1904, année où le Canadien George S. Lyon a gagné la médaille d'or. Nous sommes ravis de célébrer nos golfeurs olympiens ainsi que nos nombreux athlètes talentueux qui portent le drapeau canadien à longueur d'année sur la scène internationale du golf.

Pour terminer, je remercie tout spécialement les fervents du golf de tout le pays qui se sont ralliés derrière l'Omnium canadien au fil des ans. Depuis plus d'un siècle, leur passion pour le golf au Canada a contribué au succès de ce championnat.

Président

Welcome from RBC / Mot de bienvenue de RBC

RBC is proud to celebrate the 107th playing of our National Open Championship at the prestigious Glen Abbey Golf Club.

Last year, we witnessed an incredible finale as Jason Day, Bubba Watson and David Hearn battled it out right to the 72nd hole, with Jason emerging a worthy winner. The excitement in those final few moments from Canadian golf fans was palpable, and showed just how important golf is to our nation. With #1 world ranked Jason Day returning this year to defend his title, I know that this year's Championship will be another celebration of this great game.

This summer, golf is also making its triumphant return to the 2016 Rio Olympic Games. As Canada's longest-standing sponsor of the Canadian Olympic Team and partner of Golf Canada, RBC is excited to support our golfers as they proudly represent our country and defend the gold won by George Lyons back in 1904.

At RBC, our purpose as an organization is to help our clients thrive and our communities prosper. Whether it's helping athletes to realize their dreams, supporting entrepreneurs to start a business, or families to buy their first home, we're helping Canadians to achieve their 'someday'. That commitment and support also extends to this tournament and to Ronald McDonald House Charities of Canada, our Official Charity Partner, which provides families of sick children with a home away from home while their child is being treated at a nearby hospital.

Thank you to the fans for your continued enthusiasm and support of our National Open Championship. On behalf of the 80,000 RBC employees around the world, we hope you enjoy watching the world's best golfers compete for the 2016 RBC Canadian Open title.

Dave McKay
President and Chief Executive Officer,
RBC

RBC est fière de souligner la 107<sup>e</sup> édition de l'Omnium canadien, qui se déroule au prestigieux Glen Abbey Golf Club.

L'an dernier, nous avons assisté à une finale incroyable pendant laquelle Jason Day, Bubba Watson et David Hearn se sont affrontés sans relâche jusqu'au 72<sup>e</sup> trou avant que Jason Day remporte une victoire bien méritée. L'enthousiasme palpable des amateurs de golf canadiens pendant ces derniers moments ne laissait planer aucun doute sur la place de choix qu'occupe le golf au pays. Alors que Jason Day, qui figure au premier rang du classement mondial, revient défendre son titre, je sais qu'encore une fois cette année, le tournoi offrira des moments forts aux amateurs de golf.

Cet été, de plus, le golf fait un retour triomphant aux Jeux Olympiques Rio 2016. Plus ancien commanditaire canadien de l'équipe olympique nationale et partenaire de Golf Canada, RBC est heureuse d'appuyer les golfeurs qui représenteront fièrement notre pays et défendront la médaille d'or décrochée par George Lyons en 1904.

La raison d'être de notre entreprise est de contribuer à la réussite des clients et à la prospérité des collectivités. Que ce soit en appuyant les athlètes dans la concrétisation de leurs espoirs, les entrepreneurs dans le démarrage d'une entreprise ou les familles dans l'achat d'une première maison, nous aidons les Canadiens à réaliser ce dont ils rêvent. Cet engagement et ce soutien couvrent également l'Omnium canadien et l'Œuvre des Manoirs Ronald McDonald du Canada, organisme de bienfaisance partenaire officiel du tournoi, qui offre un deuxième chez-soi aux familles d'enfants malades pendant que ces derniers reçoivent des traitements dans des hôpitaux avoisinants.

Merci, amateurs de golf, de votre enthousiasme et de votre soutien. Au nom des 80 000 employés de RBC partout dans le monde, j'espère que vous prendrez plaisir à regarder quelques-uns des meilleurs golfeurs au monde s'affronter pour remporter le titre de champion de l'Omnium canadien RBC 2016.

Dave McKay
Président et chef de la direction
RBC

These initiatives allow the Foundation to support and promote programs that increase participation in golf by engaging players of all ages and abilities across the country.

One such initiative involves the distribution of golf-related scholarships and grants to students and academic institutions. Since 1982, the Golf Canada Foundation has awarded more than $2.5 million in scholarships and grants to promising young golfers across the country.

The Foundation's mandate expands beyond collegiate golf. We are proud to support five key nation-wide pillars of the sport, which span from children taking up the game to our highest level athletes performing on the international stage.

- Golf Heritage (programs include the Canadian Golf Hall of Fame & Museum)
- Collegiate golf (programs include scholarships & grants as well as the Canadian University/College Championship)

Le mandat de la Fondation Golf Canada est de recueillir et d'octroyer des fonds pour la promotion du golf au Canada. La Fondation entreprend une série d'initiatives de collecte de fonds afin de répondre à ce mandat. Ces initiatives permettent à la fondation d'appuyer et de promouvoir des programmes qui augmentent la participation au golf d'un bout à l'autre du Canada, sans égard à l'âge et à l'habileté des golfeurs.

Une de ces initiatives est l'octroi de bourses et de subventions aux étudiants-golfeurs et aux établissements d'enseignement. Depuis 1982, la Fondation Golf Canada a versé plus de 2,5 millions$ en subventions et bourses aux jeunes golfeurs prometteurs du pays.

Le mandat de la Fondation s'étend au-delà du golf universitaire. La Fondation est fière de soutenir cinq piliers clés du sport au Canada, depuis la participation des enfants au golf jusqu'au golf de haute performance sur la scène internationale.

Charity Partner – Ronald McDonald House Charities

As part of the RBC Kids Pledge, the RBC Foundation generously donated $500,000 to Ronald McDonald House Charities (RMHC) Canada for research and program development to support the mental health and well-being of the children and families staying at Ronald McDonald Houses. There are currently 15 Ronald McDonald Houses across Canada collectively supporting over 20,000 families with critically ill children annually. Research has consistently demonstrated that the families of sick children experience substantial levels of stress and anxiety following their child's diagnosis and hospitalization.

Thanks to this generous donation, a two year pilot test was conducted at two Ronald McDonald Houses – RMH Toronto and RMH Montreal – to explore and study innovative new ways for helping these families through a very difficult and emotionally stressful time in their lives. The pilot test focused on an evaluation of activities and resources that would support the emotional health and healing of families, as well as an education program for Ronald McDonald House staff and volunteers.

Parents and children at the two pilot sites participated in a range of innovative, wellness activities including tai chi, yoga, scrap-booking, drumming sessions, walking groups and cooking classes. These activities were specifically selected based on their ability to be inclusive of all family members and to provide opportunities for physical activity, connection to other families and a supportive environment for sharing experiences and stories.

For families requiring more specialized, clinical care while they are staying at a Ronald McDonald House, an up-to-date list of local community resources was developed for each pilot test site.

Educational workshops were also developed to enhance Ronald McDonald House staff and volunteer capacities and skills for supporting families, specifically in relation to coping with grief and loss as well as managing stressful situations.

The pilot program was developed under the leadership and collaboration of an 'Executive Advisory Council' that included representation from RBC, RMHC Canada, RMHC Toronto, RMHC Montreal and leading experts in child psychiatry and social work from The Hospital for Sick Children.

Results of the pilot test underscored the need to provide services and programs that are tailored to each local Ronald McDonald House and their respective family populations. As families face the unique stressors and challenges of having a critically ill child that is undergoing medical treatment, each member of the family requires ongoing emotional support. The demand for knowledgeable, responsive and supportive staff and volunteers is increasing in alignment with the advancements in medical technology and treatments, the extension of a child's hospital stay and the related physical and emotional needs of families. The unique quality and scope of services and amenities provided by Ronald McDonald Houses are a testament to their evolution from places of family accommodation to 'centres of family wellness.'

Œuvre de bienfaisance – Œuvre des Manoirs Ronald McDonald

Dans le cadre de la promesse de don Les jeunes, j'y crois!, la Fondation RBC a fait un don de 500 000 $ à l'Œuvre des Manoirs Ronald McDonald Canada pour la santé mentale et le bien-être des enfants et des familles résidant dans un Manoir Ronald McDonald. Aujourd'hui, 15 Manoirs Ronald McDonald servent chaque année plus de 20 000 familles avec un enfant gravement malade. Les recherches indiquent que l'hospitalisation d'un enfant pour le traitement d'une maladie grave entraîne pour sa famille un niveau élevé de stress et d'anxiété.

Grâce à ce don généreux, un essai pilote de deux ans a été mené dans deux Manoirs Ronald McDonald, ceux de Toronto et de Montréal, pour trouver de nouvelles façons d'aider les familles pendant cette période de stress et d'émotion intenses. L'essai a évalué les activités et ressources les plus susceptibles de soutenir la santé émotionnelle des familles; il a aussi mis sur pied un programme de formation pour le personnel et les bénévoles des Manoirs Ronald McDonald.

Les parents et enfants qui ont participé à ces deux essais pilotes se sont adonnés à des activités novatrices de bien-être comme le tai-chi, le yoga, le collimage, la batterie, la marche et la cuisine. Ces activités ont été sélectionnées parce que tous les membres d'une même famille pouvaient les pratiquer et parce qu'elles fournissaient l'occasion de s'adonner à des activités physiques, de nouer des liens avec d'autres familles et de partager des expériences et des faits de vie dans un milieu d'échanges positif.

De plus, dans chacun des deux sites pilotes, on a dressé une liste des ressources communautaires locales pour les familles requérant des soins plus spécialisés durant leur séjour au Manoir Ronald McDonald.

Des ateliers de formation ont aussi été mis en place pour le personnel et les bénévoles des Manoirs Ronald McDonald. L'objectif était de les aider à soutenir encore mieux les familles, notamment en ce qui concerne la peine et le deuil, et à mieux gérer des situations stressantes.

Le programme pilote a été développé en collaboration étroite avec un conseil consultatif formé de représentants de RBC, MRM Canada, MRM Toronto, MRM Montréal et d'experts en pédopsychiatrie et en travail social.

L'essai pilote a démontré la nécessité de fournir des services et programmes appropriés à chaque Manoir Ronald McDonald et aux populations familiales respectives. Chaque membre d'une famille qui vit le stress d'un enfant gravement malade et en traitement requiert un soutien émotionnel continu. Compte tenu du progrès de la technologie et des traitements médicaux, du prolongement de l'hospitalisation des enfants et des besoins physiques et émotifs ainsi créés au sein de la famille, il importe de recourir à un personnel et à des bénévoles bien formés, compétents et en mesure de gérer ces situations de stress. Les services et commodités de grande qualité offerts par les Manoirs Ronald McDonald témoignent que ceux-ci sont, plus que des centres d'hébergement, de véritables centres de bien-être pour la famille!

A Brief History of Glen Abbey Golf Club

The land on which Glen Abbey Golf Club stands has a long and storied past. The 350-acre plot was originally acquired in 1937 by André Dorfman, a wealthy mining engineer based in Toronto, who built a country home for his family. The property named RayDor – an amalgamation of his first and last names – featured a handsome stone mansion fashioned after Dorfman's love of the classic estate homes in his native France.

In 1953, Dorfman sold the property to the Jesuit Fathers of Upper Canada who used it as a retreat for the Toronto and Hamilton Dioceses. Following the Jesuits' departure in 1963, the grounds were sold to a group of seven Oakville businessmen who developed the land into the Upper Canada Golf and Country Club.

Operated by Clearstream Developments, the golf course at Upper Canada was completed in 1965 on the eastern section of the property alongside tennis courts, a pool and a ski run which ran down to the valley of Sixteen Mile Creek. At the turn of the decade, the course would take on a new name – Glen Abbey Golf and Country Club.

In 1974, Great Northern Capital purchased the land as part of a parcel intended for residential development. The following year on the 30th of September, the Royal Canadian Golf Association officially moved its headquarters to Dorfman's mansion and fittingly named it Golf House.

Rod McIsaac, the President and CEO of Great Northern Capital, first envisioned the redesign of the golf course to become the permanent home of the Canadian Open. Working closely with the RCGA, Great Northern Capital contracted first-time designer Jack Nicklaus to mould a spectator-friendly, championship-quality course to host Canada's National Open Championship.

The renamed Glen Abbey Golf Club opened to great acclaim on June 1st, 1976 and just one year later, the course hosted its first Canadian Open. Five years after opening its doors, the property was sold to the RCGA. The organization operated the course for 18 years before it was purchased by ClubLink, who continues to manage Glen Abbey as a semi-private golf course.

Remnants of Glen Abbey's rich history remain with the club in recognition of its past. It is from the Jesuit Fathers' tenure that the course derives both its name and its iconic logo of a swinging monk. Some say that Dorfman's house is still occupied by the spectre of a friendly Jesuit Father. The RCGA became Golf Canada, but the organization's home on the property retained the name Golf House.

This year, Glen Abbey Golf Club and Golf Canada look to build upon that legacy by welcoming back the RBC Canadian Open for a record 28th time.

Un bref historique du Glen Abbey Golf Club

Le terrain sur lequel est aménagé le Glen Abbey Golf Club a une longue et riche histoire. Le lot de 350 acres (142 ha) est d'abord acquis en 1937 par André Dorfman, un ingénieur minier fortuné de Toronto, qui y construit une résidence secondaire pour sa famille. Baptisée RayDor (un amalgame de ses prénom et nom), la propriété prend la forme d'un élégant manoir en pierre, sur le modèle des grandes demeures classiques françaises, pays d'origine de Dorfman.

En 1953, Dorfman vend la propriété aux pères jésuites du Haut-Canada qui en font un lieu de retraite pour les diocèses de Toronto et Hamilton. Après le départ des jésuites en 1963, sept hommes d'affaires d'Oakville achètent la propriété qu'ils transforment en club de golf, l'Upper Canada Golf and Country Club.

Exploité par Clearstream Developments, le parcours d'Upper Canada est complété en 1965 du côté est de la propriété. Sont aussi construits des courts de tennis, une piscine et une pente de ski dans la vallée du ruisseau Sixteen Mile. Au tournant de la décennie, le club sera rebaptisé Glen Abbey Golf and Country Club.

En 1974, Great Northern Capital acquiert la propriété dans le but d'en faire un ensemble résidentiel. Le 30 septembre de l'année suivante, l'Association Royale de Golf du Canada (RCGA) emménage officiellement dans le manoir de Dorfman qu'il nomme Maison du golf.

Rod McIsaac, président et chef de la direction de Great Northern Capital, a la vision d'un nouveau parcours qui deviendrait le foyer permanent de l'Omnium canadien. En étroite collaboration avec la RCGA, Great Northern Capital embauche Jack Nicklaus, à ses débuts comme architecte de golf, avec le mandat de bâtir un parcours de championnat, convivial pour les spectateurs, qui accueillerait le championnat national ouvert du Canada.

Le Glen Abbey Golf Club – tel est son nouveau nom – est inauguré dans un concert d'éloges le 1<sup>er</sup> juin 1976 et, l'année suivante, accueille pour la première fois l'Omnium canadien. Cinq années après son inauguration, la propriété est vendue à la RCGA. Dix-huit ans plus tard, l'association le vend à ClubLink qui exploite Glen Abbey en tant que club semi-privé.

Encore aujourd'hui, Glen Abbey préserve des reliques de sa féconde histoire. Le parcours tient son nom du passage des pères jésuites (« abbey » signifie « abbaye ») et son logo légendaire représentant un moine en train de s'élancer survit au temps. D'aucuns prétendent que le manoir de Dorfman est toujours occupé par le spectre amical d'un jésuite. La RCGA est devenue Golf Canada, mais le bâtiment qui abrite maintenant l'association sur la propriété a conservé son nom de Maison du golf.

Cette année, le Glen Abbey Golf Club et Golf Canada sont impatients d'écrire un nouveau chapitre en accueillant l'Omnium canadien RBC pour la 28<sup>e</sup> fois, un record absolu.

Canadian Open Timeline at Glen Abbey Golf Club

---

1977 – Launching a Legend: Six years after his first Canadian Open victory and just months after back surgery, Lee Trevino won Glen Abbey's debut as the 'Home of the Canadian Open' – the first solo course design by his arch-rival Jack Nicklaus.

1978 – Monster of the Monastery: Despite the best efforts of defending champion Lee Trevino, Bruce Lietzke hung on to defeat a tough field and an even tougher Glen Abbey during a tournament that earned the course the ominous nickname, 'The Monster of the Monastery.'

1979 – And then there were Four: Lee Trevino became just the fourth player in history to win the championship more than twice. The other members of this exclusive club include Leo Diegel (1924, 1925, 1928, 1929), Tommy Armour (1927, 1930, 1934) and Sam Snead (1938, 1940, 1941).

1981 – England Conquers: England's Peter Oosterhuis edged Bruce Lietzke, Andy North, and course designer Jack Nicklaus by one shot to win his only PGA Tour title.

1982 – A New Tournament Record: Bruce Lietzke, who won at Glen Abbey in 1978 and was runner-up in 1981, set what was then a new 72-hole course record of 7-under-par 277 – three better than Lee Trevino's record from 1977.

1983 – Double Handicap: Disobeying his doctor's orders, Johnny Miller came to Glen Abbey a month after gallbladder surgery and came up just short of the victory. Despite a valiant effort, he was defeated by John Cook in a six-hole playoff.

1984 – Shark Beats Bear: Jack Nicklaus and Greg Norman went head-to-head in a classic battle at Glen Abbey. The Australian's final-round 67 propelled him to a two-shot victory.

1985 – Strange Outcomes: Curtis Strange won his first of two Canadian Opens at Glen Abbey by holding off two of the world's best: Jack Nicklaus and defending champion Greg Norman.

1986 – Love is Third: Much was expected of heralded rookie Davis Love III at the 1986 Canadian Open, but he finished in a tie for third behind 43-year-old veteran Bob Murphy.

1987 – Canada's Hope: Canadian Richard Zokol found himself carrying the hopes of a nation as he entered the final round tied for the lead, but Curtis Strange prevailed to win his second Canadian Open at Glen Abbey.

1988 – When it Rains: The Canadian Open became a five-day affair after rains forced the suspension of play during the final round with 22 players still to finish. Ken Green bested the competition and the conditions to come out on top.

1989 – Keeping up with Jones: Steve Jones took advantage of a Glen Abbey softened by rain to win the Canadian Open with a then-record of 17-under-par.

1990 – Bottom of the Ninth: Heading into the final round, Canadian Dave Barr was 3 strokes off the lead and had the nation watching with bated breath. A run-in with Glen Abbey's ninth hole resulted in a triple bogey from which Barr could not recover. Wayne Levi went on to secure the win and silence the Canadian crowd.

Canadian Open Timeline at Glen Abbey Golf Club

---

1992 – Breaking a Losing Streak: Greg Norman lost a three-shot lead over the final five holes, but the Shark sank a 12-foot birdie putt to force a playoff with two-time winner Bruce Lietzke. He prevailed on the second playoff hole to capture his second Canadian Open at Glen Abbey.

1993 – A Frosty September: David Frost watched from the 18th fairway as Fred Couples birdied the final regulation hole to move into a share of first. With a calm demeanor, Frost coolly equalled the feat to capture the Canadian Open.

1994 – No Discounting Price: Nick Price considered skipping the Canadian Open after a tiring summer that saw him win the British Open and the PGA Championship. His decision to play proved to be the right call with the Zimbabwean claiming his second Canadian Open title in four years.

1995 – Picking up Steam: It took Mark O'Meara a final-round 67 and one playoff hole to defeat Bob Lohr and clinch his second win of 1995.

1996 – Blown Away: Hurricane Fran blew into town on Saturday and refused to let up. Play was suspended twice that day and eventually cancelled. Dudley Hart remains the only champion of a Canadian Open that was shortened to 54 holes.

1998 – Friend No More: Billy Andrade and Bob Friend struggled in their attempts to secure the Canadian Open title at Glen Abbey. Record books forgave forays through seated spectators and trips through sand and water to simply show Andrade defeated Friend in a playoff.

1999 – Sutton Impact: After four previous top-10 finishes at Glen Abbey, Hal Sutton would not be denied on a fifth occasion. He posted a three-shot victory over Dennis Paulson to emerge victorious.

2000 – Triple Crown: Tiger's return to Glen Abbey was one for the history books. His victory earned him the distinction of becoming the second player to win golf's Triple Crown. He clinched the victory in fine fashion, making what many consider to be one of the greatest shots ever.

2004 – Duel in the Sun: The planets seemed to align at the Centennial Canadian Open for Mike Weir to become the first Canadian in 50 years to win the championship, but Vijay Singh intervened to dash the hopes of a nation.

2008 – A Rain-soaked Rookie: Despite the downpour and wet conditions, Chez Reavie held a competitive field at bay to pick up his first career PGA Tour victory.

2009 – A Fitting First: Nathan Green began his professional golf journey by honing his game and refining his skills on the Canadian Tour. It seemed only fitting that he would register his first career victory by returning to Canadian soil and outlasting Retief Goosen in a two-hole playoff.

2013 – A Caddie Connection: Early in his career, Brandt Snedeker earmarked the Canadian Open as one of the championships he'd like to win in honour of his Canadian caddie Scott Vail. The Nashville native made good and captured his sixth career PGA Tour victory in the process.

2015 – Jason's Day: Heading into the final round, Brantford, Ont., native David Hearn held a two-stroke advantage. Jason Day rallied for the victory, ending Hearn's bid to become the RBC Canadian Open's first Canadian champion since Pat Fletcher accomplished the feat in 1954.

Chronologie de l'Omnium canadien au Glen Abbey Golf Club

1977 – Une légende est née : Six ans après avoir gagné son premier Omnium canadien et quelques mois seulement après avoir été opéré au dos, Lee Trevino gagne le premier tournoi jamais disputé à Glen Abbey, « le foyer de l'Omnium canadien ». Il s'agit du premier parcours conçu en solo par son éternel rival, Jack Nicklaus.

1978 – Le « Monstre du monastère » : Malgré les efforts du tenant du titre Lee Trevino, Bruce Lietzke s'accroche pour défaire un tableau solide et, surtout, le parcours de Glen Abbey qui hérite alors d'un surnom qui n'a rien de rassurant, le « Monstre du monastère ».

1979 – Et il n'était plus que quatre : Lee Trevino devient le quatrième golfeur seulement de l'histoire à remporter le championnat plus d'une fois. Appartiennent aussi à ce club sélect Leo Diegel (1924, 1925, 1928, 1929), Tommy Armour (1927, 1930, 1934) et Sam Snead (1938, 1940, 1941).

1981 – Le conquérant anglais : L'Anglais Peter Oosterhuis devance d'un coup Bruce Lietzke, Andy North et le concepteur du parcours, Jack Nicklaus, pour remporter son seul titre du PGA TOUR.

1982 – Un record du tournoi : Bruce Lietzke, vainqueur à Glen Abbey en 1978 et vice-champion en 1981, établit un record de 277, moins 7, sur 72 trous, surpassant de trois coups la marque établie par Lee Trevino en 1977.

1983 – Double Handicap : Faisant fi du conseil de son médecin, Johnny Miller se présente à Glen Abbey un mois à peine après une opération à la vésicule biliaire. Il frôle néanmoins la victoire, s'inclinant devant John Cook au sixième trou de la prolongation.

1984 – Le Requin bat l'Ours : Jack Nicklaus et Greg Norman se livrent un duel sans merci à Glen Abbey. Finalement, l'Australien signe une dernière carte de 67 pour l'emporter par deux coups.

1985 – Strange entre en scène : Curtis Strange remporte le premier de ses deux titres de l'Omnium canadien à Glen Abbey en parant les coups de deux membres de la super élite, Jack Nicklaus et le détenteur du titre Greg Norman.

1986 – Un Love déçu : La recrue Davis Love III suscite les plus grands espoirs lors de l'Omnium canadien de 1986, mais il doit se contenter de la troisième place ex æquo, Bob Murphy, un vétéran de 43 ans, raflant la mise.

1987 – Espoir canadien : Le Canadien Richard Zokol représente l'espoir de toute la nation alors qu'il se trouve à égalité en tête au départ de la ronde finale, mais Curtis Strange prévaut et enlève son deuxième titre de l'Omnium canadien à Glen Abbey.

1988 – Une pluie de retards : Il faut cinq jours pour disputer l'Omnium canadien alors qu'une pluie torrentielle interrompt le jeu durant la ronde finale avec 22 golfeurs encore sur le terrain. Finalement, Ken Green aura raison de ses adversaires et de Dame Nature.

1989 – Mr, Mr Jones... : Sur le parcours de Glen Abbey amolli par la pluie, Steve Jones remporte l'Omnium canadien à moins 17, ce qui constitue alors un record.

1990 – Le 9 malchanceux : Au début de la ronde finale, le Canadien Dave Barr est à trois coups de la tête – et le pays tout entier retient son souffle. Mais c'était sans compter sur le neuvième trou où Barr est victime d'un triple bogey, ce dont il ne se remettra pas et qui permettra à Wayne Levi d'enlever le titre.

Chronologie de l'Omnium canadien au Glen Abbey Golf Club

1992 – Normand remet ça : Greg Norman ruine une avance de trois coups sur les cinq derniers trous, mais il réussit un oiselet de 12 pieds au 18<sup>e</sup> pour affronter le prolongation Bruce Lietzke, double champion du tournoi. Normand prévaut au deuxième trou de la prolongation et gagne son deuxième titre de l'Omnium canadien à Glen Abbey.

1993 – Cool, ce monsieur Frost : Depuis la 18<sup>e</sup> allée, David Frost voit Fred Couples réussir l'oiselet au 72<sup>e</sup> trou du tournoi pour le rejoindre en tête. Mais, manifestant un calme olympien, Frost fait de même et remporte l'Omnium canadien.

1994 – Plein tarif pour Price : Nick Price envisage un moment de sauter l'Omnium canadien après un été affairé où il a gagné le Championnat de la PGA et l'Omnium britannique. Mais il prend la bonne décision, le Zimbabwéen gagnant son deuxième titre de l'Omnium canadien en quatre ans.

1995 – À toute vapeur : Il faut à Mark O'Meara une carte finale de 67 et un trou de prolongation pour défaire Bob Lohr et signer sa deuxième victoire de la saison 1995.

1996 – En plein vent : Le samedi, les séquelles de l'ouragan Fran balaient implacablement le parcours. Ce jour-là, le jeu est suspendu à deux reprises avant d'être annulé. Pour la seule fois de l'histoire, l'Omnium canadien se conclut après 54 trous. Dudley Hart sort vainqueur.

1998 – L'heure de gloire : Billy Andrade et Bob Friend disputent la prolongation de l'Omnium canadien à Glen Abbey. Après avoir totalisé 275, moins 13, après 72 trous, Andrade a raison de son adversaire en prolongation.

1999 – La patience récompensée : Après avoir revendiqué quatre top 10 à Glen Abbey, Hal Sutton voit sa patience récompensée en l'emportant par trois coups sur Dennis Paulson.

2000 – Triple couronne : À son retour à Glen Abbey, Tiger Woods écrit une page d'histoire. Victorieux, il devient le deuxième joueur de l'histoire à remporter la Triple couronne (champion de l'Omnium des États-Unis, de l'Omnium britannique et de l'Omnium canadien la même année). Il acquiert la victoire grâce à un coup miraculeux depuis une fosse de sable.

2004 – Duel sous le soleil : Alors que l'Omnium canadien célèbre sa 100<sup>e</sup> présentation, les planètes semblent alignées pour Mike Weir qui pourrait devenir le premier Canadien à remporter le championnat en 50 ans. Mais Vijay Singh s'interpose et détruit les espoirs d'une nation.

2008 – Une recrue sous la pluie : Malgré des pluies abondantes, Chez Reavie repousse les attaques d'adversaires talentueux et signe sa première victoire sur le PGA TOUR à sa première saison sur le grand circuit.

2009 – Quand Green rime avec Canada : Jeune professionnel, Nathan Green peaufine sa technique sur le Circuit canadien. Il allait quasiment de soi qu'il remporte sa première victoire sur le PGA TOUR en sol canadien, défaisant Retief Goosen au deuxième trou de la prolongation.

2013 – Pour toi, cher cadet : Dès le début de sa carrière, Brandt Snedeker affirme qu'il tient à gagner l'Omnium canadien en honneur de son cadet canadien Scott Vail. L'Américain de Nashville tient promesse et signe du coup sa sixième victoire sur le PGA TOUR.

2015 – Le Jour J pour Jason : Au début de la ronde finale, David Hearn, un Ontarien de Brantford, détenait une avance de deux coups, mais Jason Day l'a remonté pour signer la victoire, mettant fin à la tentative de Hearn de devenir le premier champion canadien de l'Omnium canadien RBC depuis Pat Fletcher en 1954.

Course Challenges

The valley provides a completely different micro climate than the rest of the property. Air temperatures are typically 4-5 degrees warmer with much less air movement and significant light restrictions. With 34,000 rounds annually, traffic control on all playing surfaces of the property is also a concern.

Course Unique Features

The stadium course with a 'pin-wheeled' design makes for a very accessible venue for professional events. The valley holes are reputed to be some of the more picturesque in the country with the signature hole no. 11 teeing off from close to 100 feet above the fairway into Sixteen Mile Creek valley.

Changes to the front-nine hole rotation at Glen Abbey Golf Club

The decision to once again change the front-nine hole rotation at Glen Abbey – similar to what was done for the 2009, 2013 & 2015 RBC Canadian Open – is based on several factors, all of which relate to the best interests of players competing in the 2016 RBC Canadian Open.

A summary of these factors:

- Overall, the revised routing saves players approximately 900 paces of total travel distance – a reduction intended to have a positive effect on tournament pace of play.
- The walk from the practice range to the first tee has been greatly reduced with players taking a more direct route to the tee.
- The revised rotation alleviates congestion that tends to occur around the traditional third tee. In addition to a high amount of spectator traffic due to its central location, the area also serves as a passage route for players traveling from the practice range to the first tee and from the traditional ninth to tenth holes.
- The decision to re-route the front nine had been considered several years ago for previous championships conducted at Glen Abbey. The Nicklaus Group was consulted and approved of the change. It was the decision of Golf Canada – who owned the course at the time – not to proceed with the re-routing prior to 2009.
- The revised tournament front-nine routing was originally proposed to players and PGA TOUR officials during the 2008 RBC Canadian Open. The response was overwhelmingly positive at the time and the changes were well-received during the 2009, 2013 & 2015 RBC Canadian Opens.

Caractéristiques Uniques

Avec son design en « moulin à vent », le parcours s'avère très convivial pour les spectateurs d'un tournoi professionnel. Les trous de la vallée comptent parmi les plus pittoresques au pays, notamment le 11<sup>e</sup>, le trou emblématique, dont le tertre surplombe l'allée de plus de 30 mètres et plonge dans la vallée du ruisseau Sixteen Mile.

Changements dans l'enchaînement des neuf premiers trous du Glen Abbey Golf Club

Plusieurs facteurs expliquent la décision de modifier à nouveau l'enchaînement des neuf premiers trous de Glen Abbey, comme on l'avait fait pour l'Omnium canadien RBC de 2009, 2013 et 2015. Les changements sont faits dans le meilleur intérêt des concurrents de l'Omnium canadien RBC 2016.

Voici un sommaire de ces facteurs :

- Dans l'ensemble, le nouvel enchaînement des trous devrait épargner quelque 900 pas aux joueurs, réduction qui devrait avoir une influence positive sur le rythme de jeu.
- La distance à pied entre le terrain d'exercice et le 1<sup>er</sup> tertre a été considérablement réduite, le chemin vers le tertre étant maintenant plus en ligne droite.
- Le nouvel enchaînement allègera la congestion qui avait tendance à se produire aux environs du 3<sup>e</sup> tertre traditionnel. De plus, la circulation des spectateurs était intense dans ce secteur central, qui est également le point de passage des joueurs qui se rendent du terrain d'exercice au 1<sup>er</sup> tertre et du 9<sup>e</sup> au 10<sup>e</sup> trou.
- La décision de modifier l'enchaînement des neuf premiers trous a été envisagée il y a plusieurs années pour les championnats présentés à Glen Abbey. Le Nicklaus Group a été consulté et a approuvé les changements. Golf Canada, alors propriétaire du terrain, a décidé de ne pas changer l'enchaînement des trous avant 2009.
- Le nouvel enchaînement des trous du premier neuf a été proposé aux joueurs et aux officiels du PGA TOUR durant l'Omnium canadien RBC 2008. À l'époque, la réaction a été extrêmement positive et les changements ont été bien reçus lors des omniums canadiens de 2009, 2013 et 2015.
